Blind Descent: Surviving Alone and Blind on Mount Everest. by. Brian Dickinson. really liked it 4.00 · Rating details · 740 ratings · 128 reviews. Alone and blind at 29,000 feet! Former Navy rescue swimmer Brian Dickinson was roughly 1,000 feet from the summit of Mount Everest--also known as "the death zone"--when his Sherpa became ill and had to turn back, leaving Brian with a difficult decision: should he continue to push for the summit, or head back down the mountain?

Blind Descent: Surviving Alone and Blind on Mount Everest ...

All alone at 29,035 feet, low on oxygen, and stricken with snow blindness, Brian was forced to inch his way back down the mountain relying only on his Navy survival training, instincts, and faith. In Blind Descent , Brian recounts his extraordinary experience on Mount Everest, demonstrating that no matter how dire our circumstances, there is no challenge too big for God.

I was a big fan of Into Thin Air, Jon Krakauer's personal account of his Everest climb, and so Blind Descent: Surviving Alone and Blind on Mount Everest by Brian Dickinson was high on my list to read. The title alone is eye-catching; with only two other successful solo summits of Everest, Dickinson's story is particularly inspiring.
