Custom figures can be created many ways. One way is to take any old figure you have lying around and give it a new exciting paint job. Another is to remove parts from various figures and use them to build an entirely new one. Better yet, maybe you are a true enthusiast and have the materials to mold your own pieces and build one from scratch.

Custom Figures. Custom figure making is a hobby where people create their own action figures. The scales generally range from the smaller 3.45" scale up to the 12" scale. While I started out in the smaller scale in 2000 I moved to the 6-8" scale, which is what I mostly still work in today. The figures are generally made by combining parts of existing figures with newly sculpted and created parts.
