Diary of a Very Bad Year Well, I wasn't expecting this to be a topical book when I picked it up in February, but here we are. This is a series of interviews with a hedge fund manager about the financial crisis -- so it's partly a readable and contemporaneous-ish history of the financial crisis, partly an introduction to the actual differences between parties in the sometimes monolithic world of "finance", and partly a rather entertaining lesson in how a hedge fund manager looks at the world.

Diary of a Very Bad Year Quotes Showing 1-1 of 1 "HFM: Well, what does it mean to have an enormous mound of cash sitting around? I mean, is it like in the executive suite, it's like the pool that Scrooge McDuck has, with gold coins, and he swims around in that, and when money is needed he takes gold coins out of the pool and uses them to pay for things?"

Not unlike his Elizabeth Costello, Diary of a Bad Year sees Coetzee creates a literary doyen shadow puppet, where the celebrated mortal, besides burning the candle on the podium to opine and muse on a slew of contemporary socio-politico-literary themes, balances an interpersonal dilemma: here it is the lecherous old author dreaming up a life-of-sorts with his Filipino neighbour who is freelancing as a manuscript typist for him.
