In 1970, Mihail Vasin and Alexander Shcherbakov, two Russian scientists from the Soviet Academy of Sciences, proposed the theory of the Moon as an alien ship. The two assumed that the Moon is a giant extraterrestrial ship that was covered with a rock to look like a natural satellite. Aliens, with superior new technology, were able to disguise their ship in a celestial body and launch it into orbit.

Currently, the most likely candidate for the Moon's origin story is the Ejected Ring Theory, which is better known as Giant Impact Theory. According to this version, a protoplanet (a planet that is forming) called Theia collided with Earth. The ensuing cloud of debris eventually condensed into the Moon.
